WOODSTOCK FARMERS MARKET

Secondary Farm Product Form

In the interest of market variety, Woodstock Farmers Market allows the sale of Secondary Farm Products, which are products that have been made, caught, gathered or processed by someone else. Secondary Farm Products are limited to no more than 15% of the total products displayed on any market day and are subject to the same rules as accepted vendors. Secondary Farm Products must be obtained directly from the source, i.e. a non-wholesale source.

Application to sell Secondary Farm Products will be evaluated based on availability of the product at the market. If another vendor already sells the product, application will be denied. Exceptions will be considered if quantity of product currently at the market does not meet customer demand. After initial acceptance of application, vendor must contact the Market Manager and confirm approval to sell each week. Once accepted, vendor must clearly display signage next to each product, detailing the product's name, grower/producer and location.

INSTRUCTIONS

Please indicate below all products you wish to sell at Woodstock Farmers Market that you did not grow or produce. No more than 15% of products displayed in your booth on any given market day may be procured from another local grower. All information below must be completed before permission will be granted to bring in someone else's product. If during the season, additional items are located that you wish to sell, you must fill out another Secondary Farm Product Form from the Market Manager. The Secondary Farm Product grower must sign this form acknowledging that they are the grower of the products listed here and approve of the sale of their products at the Woodstock Farmers Market.
